You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hidden. (Matt. 5:14)

"THIS CHILD"

Bill McFarland

Every child is special. Ask any loving parent or any proud grandparent. All children are to be valued, but each child deserves to be, and needs to be, singled out with attention and affection. Each one is an individual whose life will make a unique difference in human experience.

Nowhere is this truth more obvious than in the way Luke refers to Jesus in his earliest days. Several times Luke speaks of him as "this child" or "the child." In each case, something is mentioned which gives us reason to think about how any child should be treated.

A child comes with far-reaching roots and embodies many hopes and dreams. When the shepherds found Mary and Joseph with the baby in Bethlehem, "they made known the saying that had been told them concerning this child" (Lk. 2:17). They had received "good news of a great joy," and what the arrival of this child meant was wondered at, treasured and pondered.

A child is a gift from God and is to be brought up according to his way. Simeon was at the temple when they brought their baby to Jerusalem to present him to the Lord, and "when the parents brought in the child Jesus, to do for him according to the custom of the Law" (Lk. 2:22, 27). Any child, even Jesus, needs his parents to regard doing what the Lord says as the appropriate first priority in his life.

A child costs much of those who love him and reveals something of the character of all whose lives touch his. In fact, it may well be said that a child changes everything in the world around him. Simeon told Mary, "Behold, this child is appointed for the fall and rising of many in Israel, and for a sign that is opposed (and a sword will pierce through your own soul also), so that thoughts from many hearts may be revealed" (Lk. 2:34, 35). Whatever can be a source of joy can also bring hurt.

A child whose life unfolds in good balance will have to be acquainted with the favor of God. When they returned to their own town, "the child grew and became strong, filled with wisdom. And the favor of God was upon him" (Lk. 2:40). Healthy growth occurs when devotion to God is woven into everyday life over a long time. Along with its physical, intellectual and social aspects, a child's development has a spiritual dimension.

What significance is wrapped in the being of a child! A child is not a possession to have just because it might be fun. A child is not a problem to be cast off as an inconvenience. A child is a person to be developed in the image of God.

God bless parents in their work!

What Makes a True Christian Love the Church?

By Dennis R. Smith

Perhaps first of all we need to identify the term "true Christian." This means that it is a man or woman who totally and completely believes every word in the bible has come by the inspiration of God and that it is the one and only thing which is able to completely furnish them "unto every good work" (2nd Tim. 3:16-17). It is their conception that when the bible speaks and issues a command, it is as though God himself had spoken to them. Furthermore, they respond in complete obedience without ever questioning the wisdom of God. When this type of faith is exemplified in any man or woman, they grow in the grace and knowledge of God with the strongest of confidence in all areas of the love of God (2nd Peter 3:18). With this in mind, I will now answer the question asked in the title of this article. A true Christian loves the church because it belongs to Christ (Matt. 16:18); that Christ purchased it with his own blood (Acts 20:28); that the saved are added to it (Acts 2:47); there is an unmatched fellowship in it (Phil. 1:5); our lives are more richly blessed here by being in it (1st Tim. 4:8); AND FINALLY, by being faithful to it we will be rewarded with "a crown of life" (Rev. 2:10), plus "everlasting life" (John 3:16) with the creator of all things (John 1:3) when this life is over. What else and who else offers us more than this?
