About Our Work

This Lord's day our journey through the great book of Acts brings us to one of the most remarkable personalities of all history—Stephen. And one thing is written all through his story: Christ! In Stephen we meet the Christian view of full humanity. As we get to know him, then, we come face to face with the question of what impact knowing Christ is having on our own personalities. I hope you'll join us in thinking through the qualities that make Stephen such a hero to every follower of Christ.

Sunday evening we'll be involved with the very heart of story Acts tells: how does the news of who Christ is and what he has done get from here to there? The progress of the gospel is, after all, the theme of the book (1:8; 2:47; 4:4; 6:7; 9:31; etc.). The Lord produces the church with the gospel, then uses the church to carry the gospel into all the world. Paul and Janet Kee have served in this task in Cameroon, West Africa for a long time, and we have had an interest in the work there. They will be with us tonight and Paul will report on the progress of the gospel in that country. Remember that he'll be speaking on what Acts is all about. Be sure to be with us!

The calendar for these next few weeks is full of activities and programs of all kinds—classes, youth activities, graduation celebrations, weddings, memorials, a Super Saturday, missions reports, and others. Besides things like these, several of our families will be dealing with matters of much concern to them. All this calls for two things: much prayer and much involvement. We are joint-heirs in Christ. Let us also be sure to be fellow-workers.

Ephesians One was in my Bible reading today. It has to be in anyone's list of the greatest chapters of the Bible! Having begun with the pronouncement of blessedness upon the Father who has blessed us with every spiritual blessing in the heavenly places, it proceeds to list many of them—and they are wonderful!

An impressive feature of the chapter that we don't want to overlook is that the apostle notes the spiritual forces that moved along the plan of God to give us all these things under the rule of Christ. First, it was "according to the purpose of his will" (v. 5; his purpose is also mentioned in v. 9, 11). Second, all this was "according to the riches of his grace" (v. 7), and thus "to the praise of his glory" (v. 12, 14). Third, it was "according to the working of his great might that he worked in Christ when he raised him from the dead and seated him at his right hand" (v. 19, 20). The purpose, grace, and might of God is responsible for our hope!

BLESSED ARE YOUR EYES FOR THEY SEE

By Dennis R. Smith

In the Parable of the Sower as recorded in the Gospel of Matthew, Jesus breaks in between telling the parable and the explanation thereof by quoting from the Old Testament about the importance of our eyes. He said, "But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your ears for they hear" (Matt. 13:16; Isa. 6:9). Using this same theme may I suggest another "eye scripture" and offer some thoughts which we may not have considered before: "Where there is no vision, the people perish" (Prov. 29:18). Most of us think of this passage as it reflects on the future, but please keep in mind that good vision sees in all directions. If we stood on a high mountain, our 20/20 vision works the same. Several times in the writings of Peter, he states the importance of remembering (2nd Peter 2:12, 13, 15; 3:1). Even Christ, in setting an example of our partaking of the Lord's Supper each Lord's Day, said "Do this in remembrance of me" (1st Cor. 11:24; Acts 20:7). In the Old Testament we are reminded to "...ask for the old paths" (Jer. 6:16). The point of fact: It is not in the best judgment to focus entirely our vision on the future without looking back and seeing what went before us. The real fact of importance is our "backward vision" must include Jesus on the Cross, all that he commanded in reference to our daily walks of life, the proper worship which we render to him, and our absolute purpose and motives in our preaching the gospel to the whole world.
